RUEF TRIAL IS DELAYED BY HENEY

Court Asks Jurors if They Want to See the Fleet

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The Parkside bribery case, in which Abraham Ruef is charged as defendant, was to have been resumed this morning before Judge Dooling in the Superior Court, but was continued to 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, to await the arrival of Assistant District Attorney Henev, who was on a delayed train on his way to this city from Los Angeles.

Bailiff Looks for Ruef.

Soon after Judge Dooling ascended the bench, it was discovered that the defendant Ruef, as well as Henev, was not present in the court, although his counsel, Henry Ach, M. C. Chapman and Francis Murphy, were present. The absence of the defendant was brought to the attention of the court and the judge ordered Bailiff Thomas Kelley to ascertain whether or not Ruef was in the vicinity of the chamber.

The bailiff reported, after an inspection of the outer hall and the street in the vicinity of the court, that Ruef was not to be seen. He stated, however, that the defendant had left the jail in his automobile, but the vehicle could not be found in its accustomed place, outside the building.

in which the trial is in progress.

Automobile Breaks Down.

It was later ascertained that Mr. Ruef's failure to appear was occasioned by a breakdown of his auto while traveling from the county jail.

Judge Dooling then stated that owing to the absence of the assistant prosecutor the case would be continued until this afternoon. Before retiring from the bench Judge Dooling asked the jurors if they desired to witness the arrival of the Atlantic fleet on Wednesday next. One of the jurors answered that that was a matter which the jurors would discuss among themselves.

The court suggested that jurors consider the matter some time today and inform him as to whether they wanted to have a chance to see the arrival of the fleet or the procession, or both, and let him know as soon as possible.

SOBS WHEN BABY JOHN CALLS HER CRIMINAL

Mrs. Martin, Dreading Ordeal of Court Hearing, Appears on Verge of a Nervous Breakdown.

With her face white and drawn by intense mental anguish and her lips quivering with emotion, Mrs. Isabella J. Martin sat through the morning session of the fourth day's hearing of the preliminary examination and listened to additional details of her alleged criminal life, as told by the boy she had raised, "Baby" John Martin. And as under the cross examination by Attorney Frick, "Baby" John continued to pile up damaging statements against his reputed mother, the woman appeared awe-stricken and at intervals plowed her head on her folded arms and sobbed pitifully. Frick's inability to shake down the testimony of the witness is having a crumbling effect upon the accused and again she voiced the opinion that she was being "railroaded" to jail by the police.

Dreads Court Ordeal.

It is evident from her attitude that she dreads the long hours of solitary confinement to which she has been subjected and it is also apparent that she dreads much more the terrible ordeal that she is forced to go through each day. Even the casual observer can now witness the pitiful spectacle of a woman of iron nerve and marvelous mental fortitude on the verge of absolute collapse and trying heroically to collect herself and meet the issue with her usual calmness.

The star witness of the prosecution, the one factor of the entire case around which all interest is centered is that composite of human characteristics, "Baby" John. It has been said many times during the preliminary hearing that the witness is one of two things; he is either an unusual type of criminal with a maturity far beyond his years or is telling the absolute truth about a woman who may be proved the most remarkable criminal of the age. From the time that he first told the tale of attempted murder, a tale which was frankly disbelieved by the police at the time, up to the time of his testimony today there has been scarcely a single word of variation in either language or fact.

When "Baby" John was again taken in hand by Attorney Frick for further cross examination this morning, he gave in reply to close questioning, testimony relating to the first steps taken in the manufacture of the bomb and the purchase of the articles with which the bomb was made. According to the witness, Mrs. Martin, upon the occasion of one of many visits to San Francisco, purchased two spoons of fine white wire and an alarm clock of ordinary pattern. This clock was to be used, it is alleged to mind up wire to extract a cork from an acid bottle in order to explode an infernal machine which was to be prepared to blow up the home of Police Judge Semuels.

In giving his testimony, "Baby" John was at times, inclined to hesitate as if to make sure of his ground, but taken as a whole, his testimony under cross-examination did not vary in any material particulars from that given during his direct examination.

Is Slow Witness.

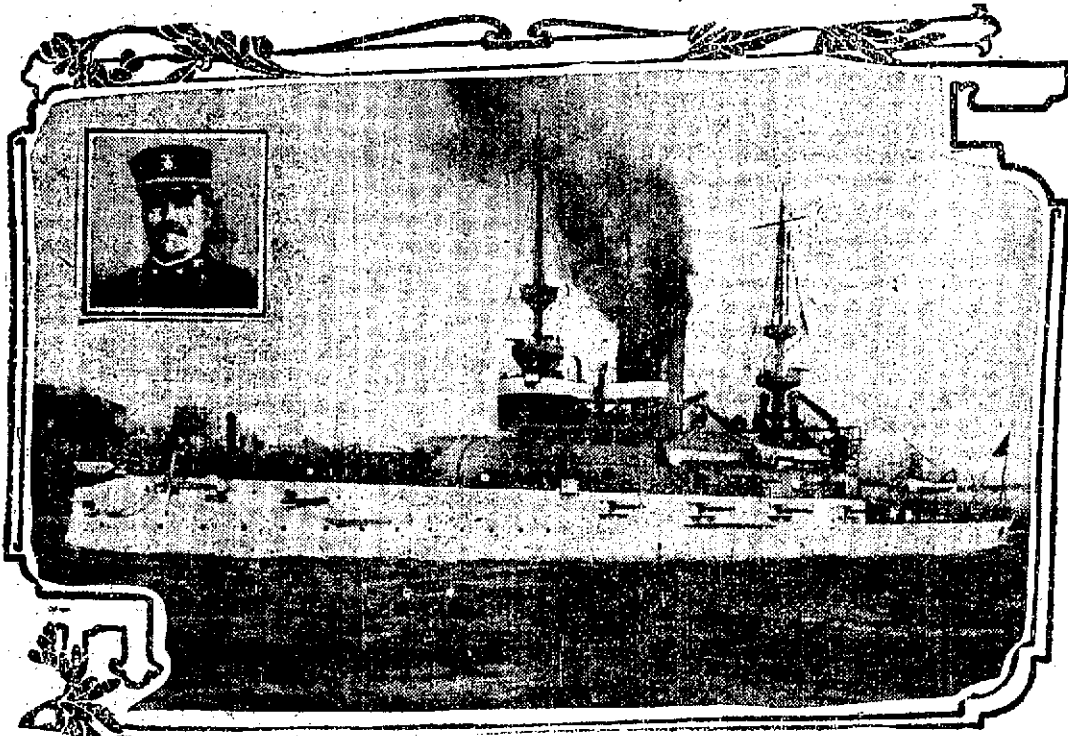

From all appearances the case will drag from this time on, it being the evident intention of Judge Frick to get every particular of the case in the record during the preliminary examination. Although "Baby" John seems positive in his replies to questioning, he takes his own time in giving his replies, with the result that he is an unusually slow witness.

Probes "Baby" John's Past.

It was made clear during the morning session that Attorney Frick is not at this time confining himself as much to the defense of the woman prisoner as to an attempt to show that "Baby" John was not, as he has claimed, in deadly fear of his putative mother, but had always

Illinois and Captain Bowyer

Shortly after midnight Saturday the battleship Illinois, in Monterey bay, parted from her anchor chains in a heavy gale and drifted down the bay toward the Alabama. She grazed the side of the battleship and carried away a gangway. Luckily the wind changed just before the crash or the result would probably have been a great deal worse. As soon as it was found out that the big ship was drifting another anchor was dropped, but the Illinois was going too fast to be stopped before the collision occurred.

The discipline on both ships was perfect during the ordeal. The crews responded quickly to the call, and the quick time in which the second anchor was dropped prevented the two big boats from coming together with even greater force.

SQUADRON REACHES HOME

Admiral Thomas Soon to Transfer
His Flag From Connecticut to Make Way for Evans.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The first and second squadrons of the Pacific fleet arrived here this afternoon from Puget Sound ports. They will await in the harbor the arrival of the Atlantic fleet on Wednesday and will participate in the naval review. The first squadron, in command of Rear-Admiral James H. Dayton, consists of the cruisers West Virginia (flagship), Pennsylvania, Colorado and Maryland. The second squadron, under Rear-Admiral Soree, is composed of the Tennessee (flagship), Washington, California and South Dakota.

SANTA CRUZ, May 4.—Today is fixed for the reunion of all the warships of the Atlantic fleet. The second squadron of eight ships will weigh anchor at Monterey some time during the afternoon and steam across the bay to Santa Cruz. It is expected that they will join the first squadron before 5:30 p. m. The Alabama, with Rear-Admiral Sperry in command, will lead the way, with the Illinois, Kentucky, Kearsarge, Maine, Ohio, Missouri and Minnesota following.

To Leave Connecticut.

Admiral Thomas has announced his intention of going aboard the Minnesota this evening soon after the second squadron arrives. He will not lower his flag on the Connecticut, however, until Rear-Admiral Evans comes from Paso Robles. Rear-Admiral Thomas' staff lieutenants, K. G. Castleman and F. D. Berrien, will return to the Minnesota with him. The principal event of the day's program.

THAW'S FIGHT IS IN SUPREME COURT

White's Assassin Battling to Regain His Liberty

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 4.—Harry K. Thaw's fight for liberty which has been in progress almost every moment since he was shot down Stanford White on the crowded Madison Square Roof Garden Theater, nearly two years ago, was continued in the Supreme Court today. Twice tried for the murder, the second time acquitted only to be sent to the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane, Thaw now will endeavor to prove his sanity and his right to complete freedom.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

The proceeding which began today were based upon a writ of habeas corpus taken out at the instance of the prisoner to procure his release from the asylum. The writ was issued by Justice Morschauser at White Plains on April 22, on application of James G. Graham, a Newburgh attorney. It was made returnable before Justice Morschauser in this city today.

Matrimonial Affairs.

An interesting insight into Thaw's matrimonial affairs which have attracted much attention since his removal to the asylum was contained in a statement given out by A. Russell Peabody, one of Thaw's counsel, before the opening of court today. Young Mrs. Thaw, who had such a prominent place in the two trials of her husband for murder, and who has begun suit for the annulment of her marriage to Thaw, has not seen her husband in more than two months.

Mrs. Thaw May Testify.

Mr. Peabody said, however, that Mrs. Thaw has offered herself as a witness in her husband's behalf should her testimony be necessary to obtain his freedom. He did not know whether it would be necessary to call her to Poughkeepsie, he said, but if he believed it necessary, as the case developed, she will be summoned.

Thaw himself undoubtedly will go upon the stand in his own behalf, Mr. Peabody said. He declared that the prisoner is willing to submit to any examination the court or the district attorney may desire as proof of his sanity.

Will Oppose a Transfer.

Mr. Peabody said he and Mr. Graham will oppose any attempt to have the case transferred to New York county which was reported Assistant District Attorney Garvan would make at the opening of the hearing.

"We want the case tried in Dutchess county," said Mr. Peabody. Thaw's

People Jailed for Plot in Lisbon Too Prominent to Prosecute

LISBON, May 4.—The Government has completed its investigation of the plot to assassinate King Carlos and his son, last fall. So many prominent persons are either suspected or imprisoned that it is decided not to bring any prosecutions. King Manuel, when taking his oath of office, will grant a general amnesty. This, however, will only cover offenses up to January 30, the assassination occurring February 1. Although King Manuel has expressed his willingness to pay to the treasury money advanced to the late King Carlos, the cabinet on account of the present condition of the finances of the royal household has decided to ask parliament to cancel these debts.

Dr. Jose De Alagon, chief of the progressive dissidents, who has been a thorn in the side of the monarchy, is believed to have made a deal with the government by which one of his followers will enter the cabinet at the earliest opportunity. The civil governor of Lisbon has issued orders that all arms in the possession of private persons be surrendered immediately. After May 5 any persons having arms in their possession without permission will be severely punished.

Accused of Having Misappropriated
Funds and Warrant
Issued for Arrest.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Josephine L. Brown, the cashier of E. Friedlander & Sons, dry goods establishment, 1215 Geary street, is being sought for by the police. Her employer swore to a warrant this morning, charging her with embezzlement. The complaint states that the cashier took $20, but Friedlander informed Judge Cabanis, who issued the warrant, that Miss Brown was short in her accounts between $300 and $400.

The merchant declared that the races had been a strong attraction for his cashier. Miss Brown, it is rumored, was at one time bathed to one of Friedlander's sons. They quarreled and her friends claim that the embezzlement charges is spite work. Judge Cabanis issued the warrant, asked for by Friedlander and fixed the bonds of the accused girl at $2000 or $1000 cash bail.

CITY HOLDS BROADWAY WHARF

Oakland's Municipal Wharfinger
Tears Down Freight Shed and Arper No Longer
Wields His Ax.

Oakland's city authorities, acting under instructions issued by Mayor Mott, are today tearing down the freight shed that was built on the wharf at the foot of Broadway by the George W. Arper Company and others who claim a right to use of the wharf.

City Wharfinger Greer appeared at the wharf this morning with a force of workmen and, with the backing of Police Sergeant Mulgrew and Patrolmen Powers, Knott and Hundley, took possession of the premises.

No Objection Made.

Arper was not present, and no one representing him made any protest against the work of demolition which was carried on leisurely by Wharfinger Greer and his assistants.

Mr. Lawrence, who is interested in the freight shed, was in the office arranging for the running of some boats that are planned to carry visitors to the fleet. He said that he is not yet in a position to announce what course will be taken in opposition to the movements of the municipal authorities, who have taken possession of the wharf. He declined to

REASON FOR CHANGE

Pacific Fleet Will Not Meet
Battleships in Golden Gate
Because Life Might Be Endangered.

Danger of collision in the event of hazy weather outside the Golden Gate, and the risk that would be encountered by reason of the presence of many vessels carrying sightseers, caused Secretary Metcalf to change the program for the entry of the fleet next Wednesday. It was originally planned to have the Pacific squadron go outside the Golden Gate and meet the Atlantic fleet to form an imposing procession in passing through the Golden Gate. Under the present arrangement the Pacific squadron will join the fleet off Angel Island in San Francisco bay, and the evolutions of the combined fleet will be carried on from that point.

Danger of Collision.

Rear-Admiral Glass, who has charge of Secretary Metcalf's headquarters at the Hotel St. Mark in this city, was asked this morning why Secretary Metcalf had changed the order for having the Pacific squadron join the Atlantic fleet off Angel Island instead of outside the Golden Gate, as originally planned, and replied: "Secretary Metcalf changed the program on account of several considerations. In the first place, at this season of the year there is likely to be hazy weather that might interfere with the movements of the fleet, and if any difficulty should occur on this account the meeting of the vessels outside the heads might increase the risk."

"Another matter was brought to the

TWO FATALLY WOUNDED IN BIG RIOT IN COAL MINE

In the Name of Justice.

A special dispatch from Los Angeles to the San Francisco Call says Francis J. Heney "exhibited signs of bitter disappointment" when informed of the prompt acquittal of Tiley L. Ford.

"The h—ll you say," was his characteristic comment, according to the Call. We quote further from the same dispatch:

"Of course we will not drop the case," he said in response to a question. "Why should we? We are dead game to fight and there'll be no let up. Ford will answer to a jury on every count in the grand jury indictments. I cannot understand how the jurors in the present instance could bring in such a verdict, based on the evidence presented. Of course I don't care to criticize them."

The vindictiveness and presumption of Heney stick out all through the above statement. He makes it plain that he is after Ford because Ford is connected with the United Railroads, and he indelicately boasts that Ford will have to stand trial on every count in the indictment notwithstanding the fact that all the counts are based on the same facts and circumstances on which two juries have rendered verdicts of acquittal and a third jury came within one of acquitting.

Heney speaks as if he were running the District Attorney's office and nobody else had any say as to who shall be tried and how many times a particular defendant shall be required to stand trial on the same charge. Yet Heney is not District Attorney; he is holding the appointment of Assistant District Attorney, but allowing someone else to draw the salary. He appears as a volunteer prosecutor, claiming that he is receiving no compensation and taking his instructions from Rudolph Spreckels, who supplies the money, spies and witnesses to carry on the special prosecution against the officials of the United Railroads. On the 6th of last May, just one year ago, Patrick Calhoun said the United Railroads and himself were the real objects of the alleged graft crusade, a crusade which was signalized at the outset by the Treaty of the Presidio, negotiated in darkness, by which the band of public plunderers who had been looting the city were granted complete immunity by Rudolph Spreckels on their promise to give such testimony as Spreckels, Heney and Burns desired against the heads of the public service corporations. Every development subsequent to that extraordinary bargain and compact has proved that Calhoun was right. Heney's statement to the Call's correspondent is confirmatory proof that the alleged graft prosecution (which has permitted the grafters to go unpunished) is a private fight against Calhoun and his street railway system.

This presumption would be amazing if one were not familiar with the extraordinary course of the prosecution. Such arrogance is, however, the natural result of surrendering the power of public office into private hands and of the prostitution of the public service for private design. Small respect for the process of law remains for Rudolph Spreckels and Francis J. Heney when once they have endowed themselves with extra legal powers.

The vagaries of the prosecution do not end with their comments on the Ford acquittal. Surely no more extraordinary confession on the part of a District Attorney's office was ever made than that of Mr. O'Gara during his address to the Ford jury at the second trial. Thornwell Mullally, assistant to the president of the United Railroads, has suffered the humiliation of indictment for more than six months. The grand jury returned the indictments against Mullally last May on the "evidence" furnished by the District Attorney's office and at its urgent representation. Now comes the Assistant District Attorney and blandly confesses in open court, "There is absolutely no evidence tending to point to him at all; so that if the case is submitted to you here as against Thornwell Mullally, you would say, and the prosecuting attorney would be obliged to say to you, 'there is no evidence against this man.'"

Nor was this extraordinary confession on the part of the District Attorney limited to the case of Mr. Mullally. In the same address to the jury Mr. O'Gara said, "If the matter were submitted to you at this time as to the guilt or innocence of William M. Abbott, you would be obliged to say that he was not guilty."

For over six months, then, Mr. Abbott, like Mr. Mullally, has been cruelly slandered in the indictments brought against him at the instigation of the Spreckels-Heney-Burns triumvirate.

Yet shortly after O'Gara publicly exonerated Mullally and Abbott in court, Heney called the new grand jury together and, without presenting any new testimony, had fresh indictments found against them on precisely the same charges contained in the original indictments, which have not yet been dismissed. Thus Heney's response to O'Gara's exoneration of Abbott and Mullally is to have them re-indicted for the same offense while allowing the original indictments to stand.

His answer to the second jury to acquit Ford is to profanely announce that Ford will have to stand trial on every count of an indictment which relates wholly to a single transaction.

Can this sort of thing possibly be approved by the people of San Francisco in the name of justice? If there be any justice left in the community, assuredly and in due season it will be visited upon the heads of those who have so shamefully abused it.

Play the Host.

In just a few more days Oakland will be in the midst of the principal greeting to the officers and men of the great battleship fleet. In the next forty-eight hours the fleet now assembled at Santa Cruz will begin steaming toward the Golden Gate, and from the time of its arrival until the last ship has left these waters the sailors and their officers will be honored guests. Oakland, enjoying the splendid prestige of being the navy headquarters during the time of Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, will be the vantage point of interest and activity among the naval men. That means Oakland hospitality must be extended to more than its usual warmth.

Good, genuine, heartfelt hospitality must be the keynote. Every citizen must keep in mind that Oakland has special duties as host to the visitors and each one of Oakland's people must be a committee in themselves to entertain and welcome the city's guests.

These men of the fleet are strangers and they must be made at home. Courteous answers to questions are easy, and although a small matter, mean much to a visitor. Consider each visitor as an especial visitor to yourself and play the host. The program arranged for the especial celebration and reception here in Oakland is the most elaborate and hospitable that has given the fleet men a greeting since they began their cruise. But it must be remembered that the especial day is not the only day the men will be here.

The banquet tendered Secretary Metcalf Saturday, which was really the official opening of the fleet festivities in this section,

ROCKEFELLER JR. DEPLORES
PRESENT-DAY TENDENCIES

"No Sin to Accumulate Wealth," He Says

NEW YORK, May 4.—"Lo, this is the man that made not God his strength, but trusted in the abundance of his riches and strengthened himself in his wickedness." Taking the Fifty-second Psalm as his text, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., addressed the young men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church for the first time in several months yesterday. His talk was regarded as one of the most interesting he has ever delivered before the class, particularly as he spoke at length upon the accumulating of wealth and deplored the present day tendency to obtain power and riches by means not always legitimate.

Fraudulent Practices.

"There is no sin," he said, "in accumulating wealth in honest and legitimate ways and using that wealth rightfully. But this man the Psalmist speaks of, had taken advantage of others. Not only was he given to fraudulent practices, but he lived evil. 'He loved lies. A man who tells lies, puts upon himself the greatest possible burden. It is difficult of remember tomorrow the lie told today. With the power and influence he must have had this man was cruel and false at heart. I suppose that you and I are prone to envy him. We say 'How splendid to have the power that man has.' Power appealed to us always."

Betterment of Others.

If a man can get wealth and use it for the betterment of other men we must not be so particular about it. Perhaps he was untruthful, perhaps he did crush others in building up his own position. The world overlooks these things. If that is our frame of mind until we hold our final judgment in abeyance until we can look a little further at the picture presented to us."

Rockefeller then drew a picture of the need for men who make little demonstration but live righteous lives; men who can always be trusted to do the right thing no matter what happens; men with whom one's wife and children would be safe.

Trial Separation FOR Happy Reunion

CHICAGO, May 4. — There have been trial marriages, but the world has not awakened fully to the possibilities of trial separations, and Geo. M. Ferguson and his wife are blazing a new trail.

They feel that their ideas about life are all out of tune, and that only such a separation will be the means of a final reunion.

Mrs. Ferguson left for Detroit last evening to work out her end of the compromise.

Mr. Ferguson has taken up his quarters in some obscure part of the city that he might be left to himself and his "idea."

They have been married eleven years.

WIFE SEES HUBBY WITH ANOTHER GIRL DRESSED IN PAJAMAS

JERSEY CITY, May 4. — Influenced mainly by testimony regarding occurrences at a party at which beer bottles and pajamas were much in evidence, Special Master in Chancery Pierre F. Cook recommended a divorce for Mrs. Margaret J. Farrier.

Mrs. Farrier was a daughter of Samuel J. Blakey, who was prominent in business in lower Jersey City.

Her husband is a son of Horace Farrier, a Jersey City millionaire.

Agnes O'Connor, also said to be known as Agnes McSpirt, was named.

The Farriers were married on June 13, 1898, the bride being 16 years old and the bridegroom 19.

May Baker said she saw Farrier and Agnes McSpirt together on the morning of Easter Sunday of 1907 in a house where the witness then was boarding.

She asserted that Farrier and his companion were arrayed strikingly in pajamas. There were many beer bottles on the floor. A bottle was shattered, and Agnes McSpirt, said the witness, stepped on a splintered piece. Her foot, draped only in pajamas, was severely gashed.

FARMER HEARS AMOROUS DITTIES ON PHONOGRAPH AND DESERTS WIFE FOR 'LITTLE MATTIE,' BUT THE CRUEL COPS BUTT INTO LOVE'S SWEET DREAM

MACON, Ga., May 4. — Frank Schollaert was happy with his wife and mother-in-law and six children until on an evil day he bought a phonograph and many records.

A new world opened to the farmer. As he listened to the strains of such ditties as "Just a Little Rocking Chair and You," "I'll Wed You in the Golden Summer Time," his thirty years of hard life on the farm dropped from his shoulders and a strange psychological change came over him.

He would come in from a hard day's plowing, wash his face, slick up his hair and grease his boots and go out with his phonograph under his arm, leaving his wife and six children and his mother-in-law behind.

The mystery of the strange excursions with the phonograph was cleared up a few days later, when Schollaert and Mattie Upton, a neighbor's daughter, disappeared simultaneously.

Mrs. Schollaert went on a still hunt, and found that her husband had been taking the phonograph to Mattie's home and testing the effect of the tender ditties which the music dealer dropped up for him.

Man, girl, phonograph and $4800 were found at Clinton, Mo.

There was an arrest, Schollaert being charged with wife abandonment. The musical farmer is now singing "I Guess There Won't Be None of Them Wedding Bells For Me, Bo."

By Gone Belle Still Drives in Central Park

Each day when fashion drives or motors in Central Park there is seen a picturesque figure from a bygone generation. Mrs. de Zera, once a noted Southern beauty. Though Mrs. de Zera is 99 years old she never omits her daily drive. Usually she is accompanied by some of her descendants, with whom she is well supplied, having eleven children, twenty-four grandchildren and seventeen great-grandchildren living.

Although THE TRIBUNE

baby contest closed yesterday, there are still a number of pictures on hand which have not been reproduced, as an unusual number were received at this office. Among those published today is Lodena Francisca Edgcumbe, a living souvenir of the San Francisco fire. On April 20, two days after the big blaze started, a wee infant, ill and injured, was sent to Vallejo, where she was cared for by A. E. Edgcumbe and wife. Every effort was made to locate the parents of the baby, but the Edgcumbes failed. After a year little Francisca was legally adopted. She is an exceedingly bright child and has been called "the pride of Vallejo."

Other pretty babies shown today are:

Harry Adler, age 1 year, son of D. Adler of the Idora Park opera company, and residing at 1721 Paru street, Alameda.

Arline Claire Thompson, age 3 years, 1635 Prince street, South Berkeley.

Dorothy Howland, age 2 years, 109 Fourteenth street, Oakland.

Corinne Melba Day, age 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Day, Red Bluff, Tehama county, California.

Estell Remsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Remsen, 83 Warder street, East Oakland.

Alec B. Wilson, age 8 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilson, 1062 Twenty-fifth avenue, East Oakland.

WOMAN IS AWARDED $10,000 IN BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

CHICAGO, May 4.—Two breach of promise cases were decided in Chicago courts yesterday. In one the jury found that the plaintiff had been injured to the extent of $10 and in the other the wounded feelings were assessed at $10,000.

Miss Helen Hada sued Joseph Matye in the Municipal court for $1000 to compensate for her a nineteen day romance, the principal features of which were a proposal on a street car and a quarrel over how much should be paid for the wedding supper. The jury awarded her $10.

Miss Myra L. O'Rourke of Berwyn met Patrick J. Fitzgibbon, 1539 West Twelfth street, in a downtown restaurant March 15, 1904. She was introduced to him as Miss Abbott. Later she told him that her name was Atherthon. Shortly before the alleged engagement she told him her real name.

Many letters passed between them, which were read in court, containing such phrases as "My Dear Old Doll Baby," "I have kissed your letter to pieces," "A great, big, tight hug and a thousand kisses," but Mr. Fitzgibbon insisted on the stand that he had never even mentioned marriage to her.

"No, sir, not in the hundred years," and that he had finally broken off with her altogether because she called him up on the phone one day and called him "sweetheart."

GIRL TELLS OF COURTSHIP.

Miss O'Rourke told a vivid tale of their courtship. She said that he swore three times to her and once to her sister that he would marry her, and declared that she spent several hundred dollars for a trousseau. She said that Fitzgibbon called on her twice a week for almost two years, and then without any reason ceased his visits. She said that he claimed to be worth $75,000, but never took her out because he was broke.

Fitzgibbon in his testimony flatly contradicted Miss O'Rourke, but contradicted himself almost as often. He was busy as a bee most of the points, and became so indignant at the cross-examination, Attorney P. L. Evans, who actually tried to pry into his private affairs, that he made several outbursts, for which he was reprimanded both by the judge and his own lawyer, E. H. Carmody.

When Fitzgibbon's answers became so incoherent that at last Mr. Evans asked, "Are you intoxicated now?" the judge ruled that it was a proper question. He insisted at first that he had not had a "drop to drink" during the day. Later he admitted that he had had a "drink" of beer with his dinner.

"How many glasses were in that drink?" he was asked.

"Only two," was the reply.

After much questioning Fitzgibbon admitted that he had also indulged in a cocktail, but when an attempt was made to press the matter he told the lawyer it was "none of his business."

ADMITTS MAKING LOVE.

He said that on the first night he met the plaintiff she had become so intoxicated that when they got to Fordeth street and Ogden avenue she could go no further. On cross examination he ad-

BABY CAN'T STAND SIGHT OF STEP DAD'S FACE, SO MAMA WANTS A DIVORCE

PATTERSON, N. J., May 2.—Just because her first husband's baby did not like her second husband's face and cried all the time he was in sight, Mrs. Etta Fries of Stonetown, has filed a suit in the divorce court.

In her maidenhood Mrs. Fries was the prize beauty of the Wynockle Hills, and Caleb Bender and Hamilton Fries were rivals for her hand. Caleb drew the prize, but did not live long to enjoy the happiness. When he died the Bender baby was less than a year old.

In chapter 2 Hamilton Fries, the rejected suitor, reappeared. He made love to the widow, and was accepted. But he failed to reckon with the Bender baby.

From the moment Hamilton assumed his stepfather to the infant it conceived a violent dislike to him. At night the baby woke up and, recalling its stepfather's face, would cry. At meal time, when Fries sat down at table, the baby cried so loudly that he was forced to leave the room until after the infant had been fed.

"Ham," said his wife to him one day, "the fact is the baby just can't endure your face."

"I'm sorry," said "Ham," "but I am not responsible for this face. Hereafter it's me or the kid. Take your choice."

Mrs. Fries chose the baby.

MOTHER ASKED TO QUIT CHURCH BECAUSE SHE BRINGS HER CHILDREN

NEW YORK, May 4. — The Rev. Oliver Barnhill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Stapleton, S. I., prefaced his Easter sermon by a rebuke to some persons who had written an unsigned letter to a woman member of the church.

The recipient of the letter is in humble circumstances. She has been in the habit of attending the Sunday evening services, and having no one to leave the church with has taken to church her two small children. The letter-writer criticized her for bringing the children to church, suggested that she leave them at home, or, if she had no one to leave them with, to stay at home herself.

The pastor said he hoped the writer of the letter was not a member of the church, and that the letter was uncalled for and improper. The mother and her children were welcome, he declared, and he invited them to continue coming.

YOU'RE WRONG, BILL—THERE'S SOMETHING IN THIS BOY'S NAME

A Pittsburg baby boy has been christened by his mother Roosevelt Connaught Edward Czar Alfonso Wilhelm McNaughton.

Carmen Silva, queen of Roumania, who is the author of many poems, stories, fairy tales and dramas, and in addition to being a queen is also a member of the Academy of Sciences of Bucharest, has established a home for the blind, which is known by the poetic name "Eearth of Light."

mitted that on the night in question she had, as far as he knew, taken nothing but soda water and ginger ale.

"How many drinks of beer did you have?"

"I couldn't say for sure; dozens, I guess."

"Did you ever make love to Miss O'Rourke?" Attorney Evans asked.

"Sure."

"What happened when you went to visit her at Berwyn?"

"Why that's one of those temperance towns, so I used to have to go over to the drug store and buy some beer, or we would go to Lyons."

Further than this Mr. Fitzgibbon seemed to have little recollection of what took place on the "fifty or sixty" occasions that he visited her at Berwyn, except to know that he did not ever speak to her of marriage.

The jury was out but a short time and returned a verdict for $10,000 damages.

GIRL IS BURNED TO DEATH; ADMIRING NEW SPRING FINERY

NEW YORK, May 4. — Her tender regard for her new spring finery cost 17-year-old Mary Knapp, of 140 North Tenth street, Williamsburg, her life. She died in the Williamsburg Hospital.

She was taken there from her home at midnight, after she had been terribly burned and had run through the hallway of her home, ablaze from head to foot, and then into the street, where neighbors caught her and wrapped her in blankets.

The girl had sat up anxiously all evening awaiting the arrival of her dress. It did not arrive until midnight, when its comely young owner could not resist the temptation to try it on. She called the family in to see and admire, and then, when they went back to bed, started to take it off.

First she carefully wrapped up her hat in many folds of tissue paper, and while doing this stepped on a match. A spark flew into the paper. In an instant flame wrapped her from head

SEWING MACHINE AND TYPE WRITER CONTEST

Winners Decorated Badges Bearing 'ME' and 'IT'

NEW YORK, May 4. — "An Afternoon of School Merriment" recently gave clubwomen of the New York City Federation, who were the special guests, an apt illustration of what the "Frolics" through which the Washington Irving High School for Girls means to its pupils.

Girls told the story of their work in which a typewriting contest—to music—was the feature, and the winner, Miss Fannie Burns, was decorated with a large badge bearing the significant word—"Me."

Four jolly maidens, who pushed their sewing machines to the center of the room, and with the precision of a musical comedy chorus fell into their seats and turned their wheels and stitched as many caps for a prize. Miss Miller, who was the first to do the completed adornment, proudly wore a large "It" above her heart.

The physical culture department and folk dancing were represented by Fannie Judin in Spanish dances and a fluttering group of human butterflies, who were delightfully graceful. A little burlesque of table-setting full of witty dialogue contrived to prove that the domestic science department is fast making young experts in the more homely arts.

Love, the rascal, came to blind me;

KETCHEL A VERY BASHFUL AND EXTRAVAGANT FIGHTER

Montana Fighter, Unlike Other Men of Ring, Has No Regard for Box Office Receipts.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Yesterday being the last Sunday that the fight fans will have a chance to see Stanley Ketchel and Jack Sullivan in training for their coming contest, that Jimmy Coffey has slated for his Mission-street arena next Saturday afternoon, both men worked before an exceptionally large crowd.

The larger the crowd the better Sullivan likes to work, he is a great fellow to show before a crowd and as he is always interested in what the gate receipts will be as much as the outcome of the contest. He figures the attendance of a large crowd at his training camp as an indication of big gate money and is consequently happiest when entertaining a large crowd.

The difference in the makeup of men who make their living in the prize ring is set forth very strongly in this contest Ketchel being just the opposite to Sullivan in that he is very bashful and not in the least at home when strutting about before the gaze of the several hundred fans who gathered at his training quarters yesterday.

To say to the ordinary person that Ketchel was bashful and that he would blush like a sixteen-year-old maiden when being complimented by a stranger in a strange crowd, might bring ridicule on the speaker, and yet it is as true as gospel. An illustration of this backward feeling his test was so different from the ordinary fighter that the story will be repeating.

First of all, it is a well-known fact that nine out of every ten fighters are pure crazy to be introduced to the public at every contest in which they are not a participant, and it has always been considered a good ad for a coming contest to have prospective opponents introduced.

Runs From Press Agent.

Willie Jacobs, the always-on-the-job press agent for Jimmy Coffey, had an eye to business, asked Billy Jordan if he could introduce Ketchel and Sullivan. The old-timer agreed and Ketchel's manager was asked to send Ketchel into the ring. After waiting for perhaps ten minutes and failing to in any way convince the fighter that it was the right thing to do, he reported back to the press agent that he could not get the fighter into the ring. With this Jacobs started for the place where Ketchel was sitting, but before he arrived the fighter had abandoned his seat and fled to the rear of the building where neither manager or press agent could find him.

Jacobs came back to his seat very much disgusted at his failure to get the healthy-looking Montana fighter into the ring, but satisfied himself to a certain extent by saying: "Well, there's only one satisfaction that a fellow has in boasting Ketchel, and that is that every one who has seen him fight is just crazy to see him again, and all the boost one can give him is not strong enough to suit those who know him best—he can fight even if he has no regard for the box office."

Ketchel, like all other fighters, would hold out and argue all day about a few dollars being attached to a purse, but his knowledge of the use of money is very limited, and were it not for the fact that Manager O'Connor kept close cases on his bank roll he would be broke a very few days after a contest.

It is reported that Ketchel is working in even better shape than he has for any of his previous contests, and that he will enter into this, his most important battle, better able to take care of himself than ever before.

Joe Grim, the iron-jawed fighter from Philadelphia, will move to Oakland from Vallejo today and tomorrow he will take up the last week's training at the Reliance club. Several of the most prominent physicians of this city, who have heard of his wonderful resisting powers to punishment, have asked the privilege of making an examination of the husky Italian some time during his training, and Manager Harris has agreed to have the iron man ready any time that the scientists get ready for the examination.

Newton Wins From Whyte

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—F. C. Newton, westerner, won the second half of the golf match with C. D. Whyte of the Presidio Golf Club at the Clarendon Country Club's links yesterday. Newton was 3 up and 2 to play, but the players found a hole and making the final score 4 up.

The first nine holes were evenly contested, the men being even up at the end of the first nine holes. Whyte took the lead at the tenth hole, but Newton captured the second and fifth. Each player took 41 strokes to make the round.

In the second half of the day's play Whyte took the eleventh hole and had Newton one down, but the Clarendon golfer played up and took the next four holes and halved the sixteenth, making him three up with two to play. The players continued and Newton won the seventeenth hole, a large number of golf enthusiasts followed the players around the course.

Newton took the first eleven holes of the match on the presidio links a week ago by up, giving him eight holes to start of his opponent on the 35-hole match.

Golden Gate Club Opens Its Season

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—A fleet of fifteen yachts followed by a large crowd of onlookers, opened the season of the Golden Gate Yacht Club yesterday. The yachts cruised from Sausalito to Fort Point and then along the water front and back into the upper bay.

The San Francisco Yacht Club went to McNear's on Saturday night, and the Golden Gate Yacht Club went to McNear's on Sunday night. Yesterday there was a good breeze in the upper bay and the yachtsmen had no trouble in getting back to the rendezvous.

Being an open day on the club program the Corinthians cruised where they wished. Many of the boats came on account of the Santa Rosa, while others went farther away. A number of the craft of the club took out parties yesterday morning for a day's sail in the channel.

Rovers Win Game From the Burns

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The football game under association rules between the Alton Rovers and the Robert Burns Club at Freeman's Park yesterday resulted in an easy win for the Rovers by 3 goals to 1.

The Rovers took the aggressive from the start and although several of the regular team were missing, the substitutes played in fine form and the Burns did not have a chance to win at any stage of the game. The league champions scored two goals in the first half to their opponents one, and put on another in the second half, the final score being Rovers 3, Burns 1.

The teams: Rovers—Goal, Marshall; backs, Milne and Sutcliffe; half backs, McIntyre, Halmann and McKinnon; forwards, C. McIntyre, Aitken, Pettie, Scott and Pike. Burns—Goal, Low; backs, Black and Harrow; halfbacks, Cameron, Dolg and Harris; forwards, Marshall, Inglis, Taylor, Gray and Jackson.

The game was for the benefit of J. Wallace, an injured Burns player, and as there was a good attendance, the beneficiary should net a nice sum.

MAYOR OF LOUISVILLE MAKES STRONG STAND AGAINST BETTING ON RACES

LOUISVILLE, May 4.—Had a bomb dropped in the ranks of the racing men here it would have caused less consternation than the announcement by Mayor Crutcher that no betting, not even the Paris mutuels, would be allowed at the races at Churchill Downs at the meeting to begin tomorrow. Consternation is rife among the racing men, but President Charles F. Bratton of the New Louisville Jockey Club said last night that the races would be run just the same as scheduled. It was thought that mutual machines would be allowed to operate, but the administration has changed its attitude. An injunction suit is expected. The race tracks are not in the city limits. Under the charter of the Jockey Club it is accorded police protection.

Jack Crooks Pulls Off a Good One

When Jack Crooks played second base for Chris Von der Ahe, the eccentric owner of the St. Louis Browns, he was one of those merry put-ups, who, if he had adopted the vaudeville stage, could have "made good," for Jack was doing a whithered imitation long before Dave Wardfield made the character famous.

Jack Crooks, like the other players of that period, was never satisfied unless he was playing some innocent prank on Von der Ahe, and though Chris used to rave when he was made the victim of some prank on the part of the merry bunch who were working for him, yet he was one of those highly excitable but forgiving characters who would forget all about the incident a few hours later.

Crooks, with his Teutonic dialect and imitations, would sometimes get Von der Ahe so angry that Jack would have to run for it, yet he stood high in the estimation of Von der Ahe, both as a good fellow and as a first-class ball player.

One day, in the early fall, when the baseball season was almost at an end, Jack made a couple of errors in a game that was being played against the New Yorks, and of course he had to stand for the terrific ruck-out that Von der Ahe would invariably hand out to his players when they were so unfortunate as to make a misplay.

At the wind-up of Chris's tirade, Jack, striking a melodramatic pose, cried out to "Sommit slide!"

"No," replied Jack in a tone of pathos. "I'm going to raise whiskers," and then Jack had to sprint to escape the fury of the emotional German.

Oakland Wins From Los Angeles Nine

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—The Oakland baseball club had little trouble in winning yesterday's game from the home team and when the game was over the home team had a score of 8 to 8 score to think over.

Great Crowd Sees Matinee

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Nearly 1000 persons lined the speedway track in the park yesterday to see the opening matinee races under the auspices of the San Francisco Driving Club. The crowd was well behaved and the sport was marred by betting until Policeman Harrington put a stop to it and broke up the ring. A number of professional gamblers made wagers and were doing a brisk business until Policeman Harrington took a hand. Five races were on the card and two of them had to be decided in three heats instead of the customary two. Many of the races were close and exciting and the large crowd of spectators was kept in a high pitch of excitement.

The meeting was poorly managed, it taking more than six hours to run off the five races. This was due to the starting, the horses in many cases being called back as many as twenty times.

First race, free-for-all, trot—Walter Wilkes (Chas. L. Becker), 1-1, won; Homeway (G. Lindauer), 2-2, second; Babe (William O'Kane), 3-3 third. Time, 1:40, 1:45.

Second race—Juvero (Jon Compton), 1-1, won; Lelley (E. L. Lanier), 2-2, second; Lady Cupid (J. J. Butler), 4-4 fourth; Roy S. (A. M. Scott), 5-5 fifth; Ed P. (J. H. Fine), 6-6 sixth. Time, 1:40, 1:50.

Third race—Kitty D. (A. Hoffman), 3-1, won; Harry Hunt (A. H. Schellfeld), 4-4, second; George Perry (Geo. Glanville), 5-5, third; Little Dick (Luka Marisch), 2-2, fourth. Time, 1:39, 1:40 1-5, 1:41.

Fourth race—Dynamite (A. Schottler), 1-1, won; Nino (E. E. Burton), 4-2, second; Ed Ray (Chas. Becker), 2-2, third; Monk, 3-4 (Chas. Becker), fourth; Symmons, 5-2 (Charles L. Becker), fifth; Valma N. (Lawlor), 6-6 sixth. Time, 1:44, 1:44 1-4.

OAKLAND FANS SEE GREAT GAME AT FREEMAN'S PARK

San Francisco Takes a Hard Eleven-Inning Game From the Northmen by a Score of 1 to 0.

Portland and San Francisco behaved themselves like a couple of major league ball clubs at Freeman's Park yesterday morning, and the fans who saw the contest will have something to talk over for sometime to come.

San Francisco finally scratched out a 1 to 0 victory, but it was not until eleven innings of baseball had been played, and baseball of a kind such as has not been seen in Oakland for many a day.

San Francisco had more than one opportunity to win the game but when it came to the real pinch Kinsella showed class, and had it not been for a bad error by Brassey in the eleventh the game would probably have run along indefinitely.

Without a doubt the credit of the great victory of the San Francisco team belongs to Ralph Willis. To describe how he pitched would be a rather difficult feat of mental gymnastics. To say that he simply pitched a sublime game of ball is putting it mildly. He seemed to have everything and when the northmen walked off the field they had just two hits off him.

He walked two men in the game, but he did not walk anybody up to the final spasm and the men who drew free transportation were Kinsella and Johnson in the eleventh.

Dan Long, a veteran of baseball, and a man who knows what kinks the game has, tried every way to win the game within the regular nine innings.

In the eighth inning, with McArdis on third base, Long signaled Esola to bat.

There was one out at the time, and Esola is known for his ability to drive the ball hard and far. A long hit, whether or not a safe one, would have wound up the game. Esola was the man to do it, and Long used rare judgment in sending the big fellow up. But Kinsella knows something about baseball himself, and he showed judgment. He made no attempt to pass the pea over the plate. Instead, he signaled catcher Whalen to stand aside, and he tossed four bad ones over, allowing Esola to walk. Good judgment. Long still had one more good move up his sleeve, and early misfortune prevented him from still pulling the decisive run over the plate.

Willis was at bat, and Long signaled for the squeeze play. Kinsella shot the ball over all right. Willis made a good attempt, but failed, and Mc-

FIX LINES OF PATROL

Officers of Revenue Cutters Will Keep Bay Craft in Order During Fleet's Stay Here.

Instructions have been issued by Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, commanding the revenue cutters and auxiliary patrol boats, for the proper patrol of the fairway and anchorage area of the fleet on May 6.

The lines bounding these areas have been defined in regulations set out by the Department of Commerce and Labor under date of April 30, and have the force of law under an act of Congress which took effect on April 10.

Revenue cutters and auxiliary patrol boats have been assigned in two divisions for protecting the fairway of the fleet from intrusion. Division A has been assigned to the north side, between Lime Point and Alcatraz Island, and consists of the revenue cutter Manning and the auxiliary patrol boats Navigator, State of California, Whittier, Reliance, Payson and Sea Hawk. Division B has been assigned to the south patrol line between Port Point and Lombard street in San Francisco, and consists of the revenue cutter McCulloch and the auxiliary patrol boats Lycares, Restless, Sea Fox, Riley and revenue cutter Bear.

Bear to Direct.

The Bear will be at Fort Point and will give the signals for the guidance of vessels entering from the sea and those returning from viewing stations. The firing of one gun will be the signal that vessels outside of Point Bonita may enter the bay. When two signals are fired in succession by the Bear vessels of the reviewing lines may enter the fairway from the westward, keeping in the rear of the two patrol boats immediately behind the lead of the fleet.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn of Tracy, California. "This salve cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at Osmond Bros. drug store, Seventh and Broadway and Washington and Twelfth streets.

Excursion to the FLEET May 6th, 1938

Three fully equipped passenger steamers will leave Hunt, Hatch & Co.'s wharf, foot of Webster street, Oakland, at 9 a. m. and proceed to a good location to observe the entrance of the fleet, subsequently making a trip around the anchored fleet, returning to Oakland. Tickets at the college office, 12th and Harrison streets, not later than Monday. All day excursion to points of interest. Round trip $2.50.

ANKLE DEEP.

"Mr. Murphy," cried an excited father, hard to his master, who was just emerging from the dairy, "will you be sending six men with me to the spot? Pat Delaney has stuck in the bog."

"Well," responded his master, "let him walk out."

"But," cried Mickey, "he's up to his ankles!"

"An' what of that? As I said, let him walk out."

"But, begorrah, sir, he's in head first!"

NOTICE! NOTICE!

Polytechnic College to Run Boat.

All students, friends and alumni of the Polytechnic Business College who desire to take advantage of the special excursion to see the fleet on Wednesday, May 6th, should arrange for their tickets at the college office, 12th and Harrison streets, not later than Monday. All day excursion to points of interest. Round trip $2.50.

Point of Advantage to See the Fleet Enter

The choicest and best place from which to view the fleet lying at anchor outside the harbor and as it enters and passes down the bay, is at the Government Reservation, Fort Baker (Lime Point), a short walk from Sausalito.

The Government has thrown the reservation open to the public on this day. The only restriction is that no automobiles are allowed on the reservation. This gives an excellent opportunity for the Oakland people to view the in-coming of the greatest armada of modern times.

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad will run its boats from San Francisco to Sausalito on this day, leaving San Francisco at 15 and 45 minutes after the hour. The fare for the round trip from San Francisco to Sausalito is only 25c.

JIGGER! HERE COMES THE MAN WITH THE CAMERA EYE!

William P. Sheridan Is Here to Welcome the Fleet, and 'Raffles' Has Left on a Long Visit.

"The man with the camera eye," Lieutenant P. Sheridan of the New York Police Department, is in San Francisco. This simple announcement flashed through the under world long before the police and detectives across the bay had heard of his arrival.

In fact, the news of his coming reached the newspaper man through tips of the big crooks, who know and fear Sheridan as the tarantula fears the tarantula wash.

The very fact that Sheridan will stay in San Francisco while the battleship fleet is on this coast will be enough to keep many thieves and pickpockets away.

Evans Rests Easy.

"Fighting Bob" need have small worry for his men while they are on shore duty, with the Argus-eyed Sheridan in town.

Chief of Police Biggy had the protection of the jacks in mind when he requested Police Commissioner Bingham to send Sheridan on from New York.

But as they arrive and drift through the city to look over the ground, the evil eye of Sheridan will spot them, one by one, and one by one they will be shadowed night and day by one of Biggy's men, under Sheridan's direction.

Not Like 'Gumshoe.'

There is nothing of the ordinary Hawkshaw about Sheridan. He carries none of "Gumshoe" Burns' ridiculous air of deep, awful mystery.

But when it comes to really delivering the goods, Sheridan is the original human machine. Vigor and Sherlock Holmes look like amateurs.

"Look out for Sheridan's 'dog-eye' in 'Frisco! The man with the camera eye is on the job!" So the word has spread through the silent hosts of prey of the city.

To the great detective like Sheridan (for he is great in his line) it is easy to pick the crook. He pays no attention to the little fellows, leaving them to the police.

Electric Optic Nerve.

Mentally, Sheridan is nothing but an electric brain, consisting of a sputtering optic nerve connecting with enormous memory ganglion.

Modest and Quiet.

If ever Sheridan looks at you with the intent to remember you, his clear blue eyes take an impression of your face that is never lost. Then he registers your name and the facts about you that he cares to know, and then these things remain in his memory. Sheridan probably knows more about crooks than is contained in the dusty archives of the record room at New York's headquarters.

Knows 60,000 Crooks.

There is nothing occult nor mysterious about Sheridan. He is matter-of-fact, level-headed, wide awake and has an eye and mind like the lens of sensitive plate of a camera. This modern investigator of crime will tell you that the tracking of the ordinary criminal is done for the most part by following a few simple rules.

Beats the Bertillon.

It often happens that the Bertillon measurements are not carefully made, or that an identification may depend upon an imperfect description or photograph forwarded from some small town. Day after day scores of such are received at headquarters, and Sheridan's duty is to supply the missing links. This he does entirely from memory.

Francisco police.

It is certain that many crooks whom I know will be out here for business.

Sheridan has been in the New York Police Department nearly twenty-two years. Although he is said to be well to do he is in love with his work, and has no use for the leisure life. During his twelve years' incumbency of the record bureau he never has made a mistake in identification, and very rarely forgets any vital facts regarding any important arrest that has been made in this country or Europe the past decade or more.

He knows personally about 60,000 men and women.

Sheridan owes his berth in the New York Police Department to his marvelous memory. He attended the City College after graduating from De La Salle Institute, and later became a telegraph operator. He was in Supt. Hunstone's office in the Western Union Building, at 185 Broadway. There were 1800 branch offices in his department and Sheridan knew the name of every manager, how much they were paying and all other essential facts.

Inspector Byrnes heard about the remarkable young man and sent for him. He looked him over and said: "You'll do." Sheridan became a detective at once and went to work.

Mental Machine.

Inspector George Titus is a great admirer of the man, and one day in 1902, when he was head of the Detective Bureau, he sent for Sheridan. Brooklyn sleuths had arrested in the Franklin Trust Company's building a man who had given the name of William Murphy. He had stolen $100 from the company's vaults while the detective's attention had been attracted elsewhere.

"I think they have made a good capture over there," said Titus to Sheridan. "Do you know him?"

"Why yes," was the reply, "that is Bob Suffrage. He was arrested by Detective Tom Mulvey twenty-one years ago in Brooklyn and sent away. Better have Mulvey see him and talk with him."

Mulvey did see the supposed Murphy and came away swearing that he was not Suffrage. "Murphy" was tried and convicted. Later newspaper men asked him to settle the question as to whether Mulvey or Sheridan was right, as it could then do no harm.

"I don't know this man Sheridan," the crook replied. "He is the goods all right. I am Bob Suffrage."

"Here's Their Mugs."

A man now dead was arrested for burglary in 1905. Soon after his arrest he was arrested for badgering. Three years later he was arrested again and the woman went tearfully to Capt. McCuskey and asserted that her husband never had been arrested before and that the charge against him was false. Sheridan overheard the conversation, looked at the pleader and recognized her instantly. He produced her photograph and that of her husband and slipped them into the captain's hands. The latter held both pictures before the astonished eyes of the woman and she fled.

On one occasion when all other detectives were puzzled as to the identity of a certain crook, Sheridan was called in. The thief had steadfastly denied that he had ever been arrested before. Sheridan gave one glance at him and said:

"Kid, You're a Wonder."

"Hello, 'Red Ammon'! You were arrested by Detective Brown and Frazer in 1934 for a burglary in One Hundred and Thirty-third street and sent to Sing Sing for six years and eight months."

FIGHTS WITH SNAKES

Dozen Big Reptiles Hold Down Professional Diver in Tank and Nearly Drown Him.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 4.—William McNeil, of Brooklyn, N. Y., professional diver, had a narrow escape from death yesterday in a battle under water with a dozen big bull snakes and may die from the bursting of a blood vessel.

McNeil is showing at Chester Park, his exhibition consisting of a diving feat, accomplished with the aid of a weighted belt around his body, and a mimic battle with snakes that are let into the water after he has released the belt. A new attendant blundered and freed the snakes too soon. The weight of the reptiles and the belt kept McNeil under water though he struggled violently to rise. The spectators looked on innocently, believing they were watching the ordinary performance, until a physician saw blood flowing from the man's mouth.

FEAR WAR AT CANAL

Colombia Believes Government of Panama Intrigues With Venezuela to Start Trouble.

The government of Colombia has reason to believe that the government at Panama is intriguing with Venezuela to declare war upon this country.

It is known that the occupation of Jurado, which is on the Altrato river, the boundary line between Panama and Colombia, has angered the Panama government. The occupation of Jurado was done on the advice of the American government which held that it was clearly within Colombian territory. The attitude of the government of Panama has given the United States a good deal of solicitude. One of Secretary Taft's chief missions to Panama is to try to adjust the matter. It is believed that America disapproves of the efforts of Panama to induce Venezuela to make war upon Colombia.

JAPS THINK ACT SIGN OF RUSSIA'S FRIENDSHIP

Redeeming $30,000,000 Indebtedness Blights Hope for Better Conditions.

TOKIO, May 4.—The press is pleased at the creation of the Russo-Japanese embassy and regard the matter as a fresh token of friendship upon the part of Russia. The appointment of Malevich is also regarded as an indication of the importance which Russia attaches to the commercial development of both countries.

The economic situation continues to be the absorbing topic of discussion and the announcement of a further redemption of thirty millions of bonded indebtedness by the end of May has blighted the hopes for an amelioration of the depression.

The balance of trade is still unfavorable with no sign of any mitigation of the financial stringency.

SELLS-FLOSHOW ATTRACTS CROWD

People Fill Streets to Watch
Big Parade Pass to Grounds.

The Sells-Floto show is here, and gave its first exhibition in this city this afternoon, at Forty-second and Grove streets. There will be exhibitions tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening. The regular circus parade on the streets was witnessed today by men, women and children, whose eyes fairly feasted on the menagerie and performers, who participate in the great show.

People everywhere have taken notice of the Shriners exhibiting this circus in different places, and that's why it is known as "The Shriners' Circus." At Los Angeles the attendance was so great that $10,000 was given the Children's hospital.

The talk of the elephant that was crazed at Riverside by the gasoline tanks of the Standard Oil Company exploding, favors the elephant. Men and women lost their minds temporarily from the same cause, and rushed headlong into danger. In the theatrical fire at Chicago strong, able-bodied men at the sight of the approaching flames, trampled mothers and babies to death to save themselves. Man has intelligence; an elephant has not. At the same time elephants and humans are alike in many respects.

Number 13 Significant.

The elephant is worth $13,000, has been in this country 13 years, and was exhibited 13 years in Europe before coming to America.

"John H. Corcoran," who adjusted the claims of circus and people against the Standard Oil Company, whose tanks exploded and caused the elephant stampede, deaths, injuries and destruction of property, adds 13 letters "Standard Oil Co." "Explosion-Fire," and "Gasoline Tanks," the happenings; "The Sells-Floto," title of the circus, and "Shriners Circus," by which it is known, have 13 letters.

"In a truck," which was the first elephant stampede in this country occurred and which was caused by fire, contains just 13 letters. It is because of such things that the number 13 plants superstition in the breast of man.

Those Funny Clowns.

The clowns with the Sells-Floto circus are thirty in number. At their head is the proudest, the mightiest of fun, head and shoulders above other jesters, crowds into time more real, genuine fun than has been known since the days of Dan Rice and John Lowlow.

The clown referred to is Spader Johnson, who with the brain storm automobile, the barber shop and the clown band. As a producing clown he never had a near approach. He and Silvers Oakley and his ideas have been the means of building many new famous funmakers.

PAYS $2.50 FOR ONE- CENT POSTAGE STAMP

Small Gold Coin Is Dropped in Slot Machine.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Some one in New York paid $2.50 for a one-cent postage stamp last week whether that some one knows or not. A short time ago three pennies in the slot stamp machines were put in the New York postoffice to show the government how much easier it is for people to buy stamps in the slot machines than wait in line at the stamp windows. The machines were removed last week by the company that owned them and several quarts of pennies removed. When one of the company's clerks began to count the pennies a $2.50 gold piece was discovered. It had apparently been put in the one-cent stamp machine in place of a penny, owing to a similarity between the gold coin and a copper penny.

Jury Disagrees.—The jury in the $100,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Marie Wilson Stoney against the United Railroads for the death of her husband failed to reach a verdict, and was dismissed by Judge Startavart, before whom the case was tried, on Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock.

HOBSON WILL VIEW THE ARRIVAL OF BATTLESHIPS

Congressman Tells of Japan's Hatred of Foreign Races

PORTLAND, Ore., May 4.—Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama delivered an address to the Y. M. C. A. yesterday in the First Baptist Church before an audience that crowded that edifice to its capacity. Captain Hobson, who volunteered to take the place of the regular speaker who was unable to be present, spoke on the necessity of the larger navy advocated by President Roosevelt. In brief, Captain Hobson stated that the Japanese are emerging from a feudal state, and for years to come their sole ambition will be martial. The military greatness of Japan, he said, is being instilled into the minds of Japanese school children, as well as hatred of foreign races, especially the white race and the superiority of their own race. Captain Hobson's deduction is that the only way that this country can insure peace with such a country is to maintain in its vicinity a navy of overwhelming strength.

Captain Hobson left last night for San Francisco to be present at the naval review Wednesday.

BELLBOY CONFESSES TO ROBBING HOTEL GUESTS

Burglary Charge Placed Against Youth

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—With the arrest this morning of Leon Applegate by Detectives Wren and Reardon, the police believe they have the thief who has successfully stolen valuables from guests of the exclusive Xavier Hotel for the past month, and who is said to be responsible for the stealing of $4000 in jewelry from Leonard Hammond on April 3.

Applegate took a position as bellboy at the hotel a little over four weeks ago. Soon after society women, who reside there, missed valuables from their rooms. Mrs. R. C. Fouts, wife of the former mayor of Grace Church, lost a valuable gold watch, an heirloom in her family. Mrs. L. McCormack was robbed of a gold chain, and Alfred Knox missed a diamond ring, valued at $200.

The robbery, however, for which the police were anxious to find the culprit, was the stealing of $1000 from Leonard Hammond's apartment during the absence of his wife. Soon after Applegate was employed he was discharged, but was allowed to keep his room in the servants' quarter on the payment of a small rental.

When arrested Applegate confessed to the smaller robberies. The police recovered the gold watch and chain buried in the cellar of the hotel, while the diamond ring was found in Stearns' loan office, where Applegate had pawned it.

The former bellboy is twenty-three years old. He has been charged with burglary.

CLAIM STOLEN PURSE WAS FOUND IN HIS POSSESSION

Charge of Grand Larceny Placed Against J. A. Jackson.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—James A. Jackson, an employee of I. Magnus & Company, was arrested last night by Policemen McPhee and Sutton, and booked at the city prison on a charge of grand larceny. He was accused by Morris Schwartz of having picked the latter's pocket of a purse containing $50.

Schwartz says he noticed Jackson acting suspiciously near him, and after he had lost his purse, remonstrated with the man.

He claims that Jackson said to him

HOTEL FIRE DEATH LIST HAS NOW REACHED 11

Search of Ruins for Bodies Has Begun

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 4.—The death roll in the New Avenue Hotel fire this morning stood at eleven, with several persons still unaccounted for. At daylight the body of a man was recovered, the first to be lifted from the heaps of debris since Sunday evening. The body was identified as that of Charles Benjamin of Detroit.

A revised list of dead follows:
J. B. MILLER, traveling salesman.
J. E. ELLIS, traveling salesman, Chicago.
ISAAC HIRSCH, traveling salesman, Chicago.
WILLIAM PITCHER, traveling salesman, Duluth.
R. S. JOHNSON, traveling salesman, Fort St. Joseph, Mo.
JOSEPH W. DEVINEY, traveling salesman, Philadelphia.
CHARLES BENJAMIN, traveling salesman, Detroit.

Several Unidentified.
Unidentified body of woman, supposed to be that of Miss Mary Burkett, Mishawaka, Ind. From the remains was taken a gold band ring bearing the initials M. B.
Unidentified woman, supposed to be that of Miss Sarah Hathaway, Mishawaka, Ind.
Unidentified body of man, consisting of trunk and head also burned off, supposed to be that of Burke, hotel porter.
Unidentified body of man so badly burned as practically to be unrecognizable.

Many Injured.

Of the dozen persons seriously injured by burns or by leaping from the burning building all are doing well at the hospital, excepting E. M. Matthews of Columbus, Ohio, whose death is hourly expected. The fire department, police and two companies of militia, aided by many laborers, worked throughout the night, burrowing through the ruins in a search for the dead.

There are a number of persons yet missing, though how many and their identity are questions altogether problematical, owing to the burning of the register and other guests' records of the hotel. The total number of deaths cannot be determined until the debris has been completely cleared.
